

TRINITY TRIP TO SOUTH RWENZORI DIOCESE, APRIL 2008 PHOTOS

A group of six people came from Trinity Anglican Church in Thomasville, Georgia. The project they worked on was painting of the Rwenzori High School in the Maliba Archdeaconry. This is a church-founded school with the highest enrollment of 1,018 students (from Senior one to six).

On arrival – Christie and Peggy Corbitt and Susan Groves are visiting with some of the students and teachers who will be working with the team painting the building.

Lots of willing hands were available to help to help with the painting of both the outside and the inside of the building.

The students joined in the painting and everyone got some paint on themselves.

Father Jim Hobby doing a high-wire act on the right ...

Rev. Canon Semu Baluku, Rick Groves and one of the teachers painting the shutters.